OVERVIEW

This manual is to be utilized by Student Interns, Site Supervisors, and the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor. It summarizes the internship requirements and procedures as derived by the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Department in regards to the expectations during the course of the internship. Directions for students and appropriate forms are also included. This manual summarizes the general expectations of the entities involved and serves as a guide to insure that internship expectations are met.

Internships provide all students with an opportunity to integrate academic studies with the day-to-day operations within a Criminal Justice or Forensic Sciences Agency¹. During an internship, students are similar to employees of the agency. They are assigned duties by a site supervisor and are expected to relate to that site supervisor as any employee would. Interns are not actual employees; however, site supervisors do expect some return on their investment in students and do assign work that is beneficial to the agency.

The primary purpose of the internship is for the student to experience the internal workings of the agency in as many capacities as possible. To facilitate this goal, the site supervisor will attempt to rotate the intern into as many capacities as possible within the agency. Interns usually begin with duties assisting line staff. Later, the intern may assist a department head and perhaps sit in on some meetings with other department heads and agency directors. After learning how the agency functions and contributing to the functioning of the agency, the intern may be assigned to a professional on the front lines. The intent is to expose the intern to as much of the agency's operation as is reasonable while assisting the agency in the work it performs. The description utilized is oriented towards a traditional facility such as a police department or a county jail. Nevertheless, the description applies across all types of agencies to the extent that an internship should include broad exposure to an agency in various capacities.

At the conclusion of the internship, the intern should have gained a considerable amount of knowledge regarding the workings of several aspects of the Criminal Justice and/or Forensic Sciences Field. Internships also provide students with the opportunity to develop professional contacts who can later provide letters of recommendation and at times introductions to potential employers. Internships provide excellent networking opportunities.

After completing an internship, students are in an excellent position to evaluate their interest, dedication, and desire to pursue additional activities in the field. The Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor assists interns in several areas. Evaluative information concerning the student's progress on the internship is obtained by the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor and is integrated and synthesized with the student's performance.

While students receive a credit/no credit (CR/NC) grade for the internship, they also receive professional feedback during the internship, an interim, and a final review at the end of the semester that will provide direction for further professional development.

The primary objectives of the internship are to:

- Provide an opportunity to integrate theory and practice
- Observe the functioning and interrelationships of various units of the Criminal Justice and/or Forensic Sciences Field
- Observe and learn skills utilized by the agency staff when interviewing, writing reports, problem solving, decision making, and interacting with non-agency individuals
- Observe and reflect on the administration of the agency
- Benefit the student and the agency by providing a learning experience for the student and the appropriate assistance for the agency

HOURLY REQUIREMENTS

Student interns may register for three to twelve university credit hours. Forensic Science majors must complete a minimum of three to nine hours (depending upon admission date to program). Each semester hour requires approximately forty-five on-site hours as denoted in table 1.0. Students should be flexible and willing to spend extra hours at the agency as needed.

TYPES OF AGENCIES

Internships are available at the following types of sites:

Corrections	(adult & juvenile community or closed institutions)
Forensic Science	(crime labs, coroner's offices, other lab settings)
Law Enforcement	(local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies)
Legal Process	(local prosecutor's office, local law offices, and courts)
Loss Prevention	(government security or private sector companies)

Appendix A provides a partial list of potential internship sites. Other sites may be available depending upon student preferences and sites' needs. In general, internships are approved within a 200-mile radius of the University. However, sites beyond that range may be approved, and international internships are possible.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Undergraduate Internships

Those who apply for internships must not have had direct agency experience in the agency type for which they are applying. Thus, a working police officer or someone who had previously been employed as a police officer (excluding military service) could apply in Corrections or in Legal Process, but, would not be accepted as an intern at a police agency.

Students must have at least a senior standing (94 credit hours of University course work) and at least 15 hours of course work completed in the Criminal Justice and/or Forensic Sciences department prior to beginning the internship. Admission is by permission (a permit is required) and may be obtained in the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Department office.

To be eligible to register for an internship the student must meet specific course requirements as indicated in Table 2.0. The Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor and/or Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences faculty may also evaluate courses taken in related disciplines prior to allowing the student to register for the internship. Table 3.0 indicates the courses to be completed by the student.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

After reviewing this manual you should follow the directions (Appendix F) in this manual and/or specific directions from the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor. Complete the application and the Waiver of Liability forms. Your signature on the waiver form must be witnessed by a notary public prior to submission to the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor. Completion of these materials PRIOR to seeing the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor will prepare you to ask and answer questions relative to your internship. It is expected that the completed forms be typed and look professional in appearance.

The Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Manual may be downloaded by visiting <http://www.yzu.edu>.

Your completed forms should be submitted in hard copy format. It is recommended that you retain a copy of all completed forms. Remember to submit your notarized application and resume to the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor. Also, you must submit a photocopy of either your University I.D. or valid driver's license.

Internships are usually available during all semesters; Fall, Spring and Summer. All internships commence at the beginning of a semester. Students are encouraged to investigate and locate internship sites if they have a preference (all sites are subject to approval).

The application for internship credit should be submitted at least two months prior to the anticipated starting date (some agencies require background checks which may take from six months to one year). During the initial conference your specific career goals and current academic progress will be discussed. The suitability of a particular placement possibility will be considered. If you have a particular agency in mind, you should be prepared to provide sufficient details about the prospective placement so that evaluation of suitability may be determined.

Your preferences for internship sites are honored to the extent possible. When the site or type of site requested is not available, the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor will attempt to identify a similar site and will discuss the site with you before proceeding with the application. A partial list of agencies that have recently participated in the internship program is contained in Appendix A.

Once you have submitted the appropriate materials and have obtained verbal permission to enroll in the internship, you are expected to contact the specific agency at which you desire to be placed. If feasible, a personal interview with the potential site supervisor is arranged. A hard copy of the internship application forms and Appendix C are to be taken to, or mailed to the agency for review by the site supervisor prior to the interview. These forms will serve as an introduction and will provide information to the agency staff for their evaluation of your capabilities.

Depending on the type of site and the nature of the work performed, the site personnel may conduct a background check including references and obtaining fingerprints that will be submitted to the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and/or FBI Criminal Abstract Services. In most instances, interns are required to interview with the prospective site prior to placement.

After you have received verbal approval from the supervising agency, you and the Site Supervisor will complete the Agency Expectations Form (Appendix C). You, the agency Site Supervisor, and the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor will sign the completed form within one week of the start date of your internship.

INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENTS AT THE PLACEMENT SITE

Site Supervisors are similar to work supervisors in an employment setting. You are primarily responsible to the Site Supervisor for job assignments, clocking in and out, and for general guidance. Any problems at the site are to be discussed with the Site Supervisor before any other action is taken. At times things may happen in the agency that seem confusing. Before taking action in such situations, you should discuss the situation with the Site Supervisor. It is likely the behavior observed is acceptable and may be standard practice at the agency. Rather than experiencing uncertainty, you should discuss the situation with the Site Supervisor. If there are concerns, the Site Supervisor will know the most appropriate action to be taken and will advise you accordingly. If concerns still exist, contact the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor immediately.

Site Supervisors complete evaluations of your work (Appendix D). As is demonstrated by the evaluation form, you are evaluated in many areas and acceptable evaluations are required in order to receive credit. You may be identified to the public as a YSU intern whenever identification is needed. Therefore, you are an example of the professional demeanor presented by the University and the profession itself. It is expected that you will dress and act in accordance with the highest standards of the profession.

REQUIREMENTS FOR COURSE CREDIT

The Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor guiding the intern's effort will visit the internship site (if feasible) during the internship. These site visits are for the purpose of discussing the intern's progress with the Site Supervisor and to observe the intern at work. Site visits need not be announced to the student. The Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor will evaluate your performance based on attendance, direct observation at the site, comments and evaluations received from the Site Supervisor, and an internship paper.

Grades are assigned on a Credit/No Credit basis for each intern. Acceptable completion of the evaluative component discussed above leads to a passing grade. Unacceptable performance can lead to a failing grade depending upon the level of importance of the area.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES

You should contact the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor guiding the internship at least every four weeks during the course of the internship. This can be conducted via telephone, email, or by an appointment. You will be required to attend an orientation session coordinated and conducted by the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor.

Each intern is required to complete a paper directly related to his/her internship experience. The paper is a formal paper and should be at least 20 pages in length. It is to be word-processed, spell checked, and grammatically correct. This paper will describe the learning process experienced by the intern. Specifically, it will discuss the interface between the student's firsthand observations and experiences while in the "field", along with academic material studied in the classroom. The agency may also have required reading, such as policy and procedure manuals.

An Internship Paper Outline (Appendix F) is on Page 19. The first half of the paper is due at the midpoint of the semester. The remainder of the paper is due the last formal instructional day of the term (the last day of class before final exam week; in the summer, it is due the last day of class). Papers may be delivered in person or sent by U.S. mail or email.

You are also required to present a brief overview of your internship experience to one (1) Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences class during the semester in which you are interning. A class presentation schedule will be developed and discussed with each intern on an individual basis.

In addition to the paper, you will be expected to complete time log sheets. You are expected to complete an interim and final evaluation of the internship (see Appendix E). The Site Supervisor completes an evaluation of your performance at the midpoint and the end of the internship (Appendix D). Specific requirements and deadlines will be discussed at the orientation session prior to the start of your internship. (Once you officially register for the internship course, you will receive notification regarding the orientation session.)

Appendix H-1

A final word . . .

Once you officially register for the Internship, you will receive notification of a mandatory orientation session which you must attend. Specific requirements, assignments, deadlines, etc. will be discussed at the orientation session which will be conducted by the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor.

Please contact either the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Department or the Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences Internship Supervisor at anytime during the aforementioned process if you have any questions/concerns.

Please note:

If you are interested in interning with either a state or a federal agency, you should begin the outlined process approximately one year prior to the time that you would like to intern. This time frame is necessary due to the extensive application/background investigation process that most state/federal agencies adhere to.
