YSU ACADEMIC DISHONESTY VIOLATIONS

Instructor identifies and documents possible academic integrity violation

Instructor holds Academic Integrity Conference with respondent

Respondent accepts charges and sanctions and signs Academic Integrity Form

Respondent found responsible for violations; sanctions levied

Respondent submits Request for Appeal; case referred to Academic Senate Executive Committee

Request for appeal denied

If respondent has a prior academic integrity violation the case is also forwarded for a Student Conduct Board hearing; see Student Code of Conduct Violations flow chart

Case is closed and records are retained on file in the Office of Student Conduct

Respondent does not accept charges or sanctions; case forwarded to Office of Student Conduct

Office of Student Conduct refers case to Student Academic Grievance Subcommittee for hearing

Respondent found not responsible for violations

A respondent is any student charged with an alleged violation of The Student Code of Conduct.

Charges are the specific sections of The Student Code of Conduct that the respondent is alleged to have violated.

Sanctions are the penalties, restrictions, or requirements assessed to a respondent as the outcome of a conduct case against them.

An Academic Integrity Form may be signed by a student to acknowledge that they take responsibility for the charges against them and the sanctions levied upon them.

A hearing includes a quorum of members of the Student Academic Grievance Subcommittee, who will weigh all information presented and determine an outcome for the case.

A Request for Appeal can be submitted by a respondent, so long as it is based on one of the four grounds for appeal outlined in The Student Code of Conduct.
