Title IX Courses for Students

Youngstown State University is committed to providing an educational and work environment that values all individuals and respects the dignity and rights of all members of the University community. It is the expectation of the University that all employee conduct will be guided by integrity, mutual respect, and civility.

In furtherance of these commitments, and in compliance with University policy, federal and state law, the University is providing training to all faculty and staff using the interactive online compliance training tool, EduRisk. The EduRisk Learning Portal is provided by United Educators and delivers complimentary resources to students, staff, and faculty of member institutions. United Educators is the country's leading provider of liability insurance for schools, colleges, and universities.

Below is a description of the courses designated as requirements under the Title IX policy:
